

SIBU DESIGN we create ambience

SIBU DESIGN makes rooms come alive! That is the mission of the design sheet manufacturer from Ternberg, which has set itself the goal of transforming all kind of interiors into true design highlights and thus creating distinctive room experiences.

With a machine park of around 25, partly custom-built, machineries and a team that shares the product and quality passion 100%, SIBU DESIGN produces panels that are not only visually impressive but also offer a functional advantage. Depending on customer requirements, the decorative sheets are manufactured with a wide variety of properties. For example, the decorative panels can be equipped with a flame-retardant finish or, for specially used areas, with highly abrasion-resistant surfaces. If joints are undesired, the company offers materials that can be processed seamless. When it comes to „design“, there is nothing that does not exist. Starting with high-gloss or matt marble decors, through fancy textured panels to classy leather or velvet looks.

Unlimited application possibilities

Thanks to the endless variety of designs and functions, the decorative panels are not only used for classic wall cladding but also as a design element in the shopwindow/shopfitting of well-known brands such as Zara, Rayban or Hugo Boss, are processed in high-quality furniture and, due to the design combination, flexibility and low weight, are regularly found in the interior cladding of campers.

Team spirit and cohesion

SIBU DESIGN likes to compare itself to a bee colony: every employee knows exactly what to do, the team sticks together even in challenging times, works precisely and reliably, adapts quickly to external circumstances and produces a product that is simply extraordinary. „Cohesion“ is seen by the employees as the most important company value - As a sign of the importance of this value and as a contribution to nature, there have been four beehives on the company premises since the summer of 2021, which the SIBU DESIGN team looks after together.

Sustainability in interiors

With the development of the unique product line „NATURE-LINE“, a new milestone was reached in the area of sustainability. The products are FSC® (FSC C172111)-certified and consist of a natural fiber backing and an impregnated cellulose design layer. Equipped with a high-quality acrylic adhesive layer, the panels are easy to shape and stick to all substrates. The in-house developed NATURE-LINE is SIBU DESIGN's answer to the sustainable interior products demanded by the market.

The SIBU DESIGN team compares itself to a bee colony - appropriately, four beehives have moved to the company premises, which the team looks after together.

Team spirit and quality passion are top priorities at SIBU DESIGN.

SIBU DESIGN offers an endless variety of designs and functions.
